Dear Parents and Carers,

Staff Update

In the coming weeks, I will be writing to you to update you on the staffing changes that you will see in the coming academic year at HPP.

However, some roles within school are slightly different and they involve working very closely with a large number of children and families. This is particularly true of the role of the Inclusion Leader. Miss Melissa Talbot, our inclusion leader, will be leaving HPP at the end of the academic year to further her career. She will be starting her PhD at University College London where she will be completing the qualification to become an Educational Psychologist. This has been Melissa's long standing ambition and we are proud to have supported her fully.

Whilst we are very sorry to see her leave us, we recognise the tremendous work she has done for HPP whilst being part of the team. She has been with us for 7 years but has only been doing her current role for the last 3 years. As many of you will know, Melissa is a talented teacher, leader and caring professional who has successfully led the inclusion team at HPP, developing great practice, provision and relationships which have supported the educational outcomes for all children she has been involved with.

We are currently hoping to recruit a new member of staff for this role and I will of course keep you informed as we move towards the end of the year.

Yours sincerely

The Executive Leadership Team
